

NetEase Games Announced Industry Veteran Emile Liang to Join its Montréal Studio

June 16, 2022

HANGZHOU, China, June 16, 2022 /PRNewswire/ -- NetEase Games, the online games division of NetEase, Inc. (NASDAQ: NTESE, HKEX: 9999), is excited to announce the appointment of Emile Liang as a Lead Producer of its Montréal Studio. Emile brings the studio more than two decades of rich industry expertise in triple-A game production.

Located in Quebec, Canada, NetEase Games Montréal is a significant part of the Company's global strategy. The studio is dedicated to making contact with online gamers, talent and business partners in North America, and bringing top-quality games to international markets.

As a 23-year veteran at Ubisoft, Emile has worked on seven shipped triple-A titles, the most recent of which, Far Cry 6, was nominated for multiple awards including Best Action Game at The Game Awards 2021. In his new role with NetEase Games, Emile will extend his career as a game producer, and further help NetEase Games Montréal with the development of triple-A titles.

The appointment of Emile Liang is the latest in the series of key strategic moves for NetEase Games as it sets its sights on the global market. Other initiatives include the launch of Nagoshi Studio in Japan and Jackalope Games in America earlier this year.
